ELECTRICAL TEST AND TAG

Electrical Test & Tagging is scheduled to be carried out from Monday 27 Feb and finishing Wednesday 1 March by an accredited tradesman and the cost of this is covered by the market as part of the market day power charges. Outside stallholders, please make sure all electrical appliances and extension cords are left in the pavilion to be tested. Please download instructions from HERE

EASTER 2023

With Easter heading our way on Sunday April 9th, we encourage you to start thinking about 'Easter' Specials or Easter specific products you can offer. The sooner you do this and lodge applications for new products and let us know your plans, the sooner we can plan to help promote them. Forward your ideas in the first instance to marketing@adelaidefarmersmarket.com.au or product applications to info@adelaidefarmersmarket.com.au

BUMP IN

If you haven't already bumped back into Stirling Angas or at least made prior arrangements to do so Saturday 25/2 (it's too late to do that now though I'm afraid), then you will need to do it this Sunday morning prior to the market. All equipment must be gone from the Ram Shed and the Pig Pavilion by the end of market bump out this Sunday 26 Feb. If you need to move this Sunday to set up, please make extra time to do so in order to be ready to trade by 8.15am as per our set up rules.

EXTENSION CORDS

A reminder that you will need your own extension cords to access the power distribution boxes in the pavilion just like before the bump out. When bumping in, please make sure all power cords are run neatly and cable tied together behind your marquee to comply with safety requirements.
